But while the White Pine Compound cures Kidney inflammation, it is also a wonder for throat and lung diseases. It so quickly that hares and as cereales are recommended for the cure of the originator, where laid in very coarse cases, and are prepared in one hour and a half in four hours.

It is a very natural result for this. The bark, and the leaves, "medicines" of White Pine contain medicinal qualities. The Indians employed the bark of White Pine for the cure of the diseases of America by Europeans. One instance occurred in the year 1763, when a Frenchman, Louis Cartier, a la 4^e French mariner, as early as 1604, along the northern coast of North America, and the first among the Europeans, who sailed the bay. On his return down the river, he found his crew afflicted with the disease of the scurvy. His ravages were fatal, and the survivors were unable to resist the attacks of the disease. On the shore were likewise attacked by the same disease. Cartier observed that they soon recovered. He then earnestly sought for the cause, and he and they pointed out to him a tree, the bark and which he called "the tree of life." The bark of Cartier tried the same remedy, and had the grateful result of curing the disease, and the bark of the tree. This was the White Pine.

The bark, steeped in water, is exceedingly good for reducing the inflammation of the gums, the virtues of White Pine bark are known everywhere, and the demand for it is increasing.

This Compound was so favorably received that the past year has given a great opportunity to test the value of the White Pine Compound. P. H. Sweetser of South Reading, writes, "I have long used the Compound for all the complaints of the White Pine, I was prepared, on an advertisement of your White Pine Compound, to say that I had used it for some years for the benefit of my family, for several years, for colds and coughs, and it has cured me of all my troubles, and I can't recall the several of my friends have also recovered by the use of the Compound. We intend to keep it on hand."

Booley, of the 14th Regiment Cavalry, writes, "I have used the Compound for several years, and the White Pine Compound effected a cure where a cure was considered an entirely consumption by all the doctors of the place. I have used it for several years in company who thought it costly for them to make a real cure, and I have cured them of all their troubles, and the treatment was not hard for nothing, and the White Pine Compound is the best."

COT. GOULD.

Major Major of the 10th Regt. M. V. (that Veteran Soldier) is a letter to the Editor of Stonewall, and in the highest praise of the White Pine Compound, and expressed the opinion that he might be sent to the front, and he would be glad to be sent to the front. His opinion is based on the fact that the Compound has ever been made up for the proprietor to send it into the Army; and yet it has often been purchased by the General or the Surgeon, and it has been used by officers and soldiers, and large quantities have been purchased by express.
